

Stats Week 2019

A series of short course presented by
National Institute for Applied Statistics Research Australia
(University of Wollongong, Australia)

Monday and Thursday, 4 - 7 February 2019
University of Wollongong Campus

---

Monday 4 and Tuesday 5 February 2019

- Microbiome Data Analysis presented by Olivier Thas, Professor of Statistics in the Faculty of Bio-Science Engineering, BioStat Research Group, Department of Mathematical Modelling, Statistics and Bio-Informatics of Ghent University in Belgium, and Stijn Hawinkel, PhD student at Ghent University (Belgium).

Wednesday 6 February 2019

- Assessing Measurement, Reliability and Validity presented by Professor Angie Wade, Director for Centre for Applied Statistics Courses, University College London, Institute of Child Health.

Thursday 7 February 2019

- Sample Survey Methods presented by Professor David Steel, Director National Institute for Applied Statistics Research Australia, University of Wollongong.

---

Places are strictly limited and registrations will be processed as they are received.

To register for any of these courses and for further information please contact Michele Boatswain on micheleb@uow.edu.au or visit the NIASRA website at niasra.uow.edu.au